

Orioles Fire Manager

Zach Blackford '27

Two weeks ago, the Orioles fired their manager, Brandon Hyde. In my opinion, I think this was a terrible move. I have a few reasons why. First, in 2023, he was manager of the year and helped one of the worst teams in the MLB become one of the best. Second, he was consistent and they had back to back playoff runs. Finally, he had a great understanding of the team and knew all of the players and helped them develop. The Orioles made a terrible decision.

Movie Review

By Ben Sauer '27

A Minecraft Movie

"A Minecraft Movie," directed by Jared Hess, was released in April 2025 and starred Jason Momoa (from "Aquaman") and Jack Black (from "School of Rock"). It is a comedy and is rated PG. Four people are pulled into a new imaginary world made of blocks crafted by a man named Steve. Together, they fight off creepers, zombies, skeletons, and piglins. They go on a quest with a crafter who knows how to make things in this world that help them get home. Along the way, they learn about each other and connect. The movie is 1 hour and 41 minutes long. The actors were excellent, and the CGI movie effects were awesome. Minecraft fans will really like this movie, but you do not need to be a fan of the video game to enjoy the movie. "Chicken Jockey," if you know, you know.

New Faculty- Mrs. Kerr

Grace Kerr '27

Mrs. Kerr is a new member of the IHM faculty and will be joining us this coming year. She loves watching her students grow mathematically, spiritually, and everywhere in between. She hopes to create an environment in her classroom where fun and learning intersect, while still being respectful and reasonable. Mrs. Kerr will be teaching her favorite subject (math) and serving as a 6th grade homeroom teacher. If you're lucky, she'll be teaching your class!

HELP WANTED!

Got an interest in journalism, photography, or reporting?
Then this is the perfect activity for you! The Eagle Eye is looking for prospective new members in rising 6th-8th grade to take part in a fun extracurricular activity!

JOIN THE EAGLE EYE NEWS TEAM!

It's a chance to gain new experiences on the job and build lifelong friendships.

Contact Mr. Corbett or Ms. Datz for more info!

Ravens Preview

Jack Janis '27

I think the Baltimore Ravens will have a great season next year. With the addition of DeAndre Hopkins, the Ravens are a team to look out for in the postseason. In addition, the team still has 2 two-time MVP winner, Lamar Jackson, under center. Furthermore, the Ravens have a winning coach in John Harbaugh with a 172-104 (.623) record. The Ravens have suffered two major losses in long-time kicker Justin Tucker and key defensive tackle Michael Pierce. However, despite these losses, the Ravens are a team to watch out for this coming season.

Ravens Draft Report

Luke Davis '27

Having made some promising picks, the Ravens have an amazing 2025 draft class. Let's break down the top five picks by round:

1. Pick 27: Malakai Starks, S, U. of Georgia; the best safety in the draft, an A+ pick
2. Pick 59: Mike Green, DL, Marshall University; an excellent run defender; second-round steal for the Ravens
3. Pick 91: Emery Jones, OT, Louisiana State University; a good developmental player who adds great depth to the team
4. Pick 129: Teddy Buchanan, LB, University of California, Davis; played well for UC Davis and has good potential
5. Pick 141: Carson Winson, OT, Alabama A&M; a bit of a sleeper pick that might take a few years to turn into an impact player.

Uniform Op-Ed

Jasmine Cain '26

As the school year comes to a close and summer approaches, many students are excited to be able to dress down for summer. But what is it about school uniforms that makes them so undesirable? For starters, many elementary school students dislike the winter jumper and find it unnecessary. Not only does it make students feel uncomfortable, but the zipper design is hard to reach on one's own. There are options other than the jumper available, why not use them? For example, elementary students could wear the middle level uniforms.

Or, elementary students could be allowed to wear the spring uniform's more comfortable skort and polo option all year long. In addition to the jumper, many students believe that the bright yellow physical education shirt does not fit our overall uniform aesthetic. We use navy, grey, or red colors for standard uniforms, athletic uniforms, gymnasium paint, and our digital design aesthetic; our P.E. uniforms should come from this color palette too. In short, our uniforms should keep the classic IHM style and formality while updating for comfort and cohesive color schemes.

The Silver Lining

Bridget Kelly '26

The 2025 season has not necessarily gone well for the Baltimore Orioles.

The record isn't great, the team is struggling, and the manager has been fired. Everything seems to be going downhill.

However, even with these struggles, there is some good news. As of May 21st, there are ten players on the Injured List. Despite that, players, such as Andrew Kitteridge, are starting to return. In his debut against the Milwaukee Brewers, the relief pitcher went for one inning and gave up no hits.

Other players are doing well, too. One noticeable star, Jackson Holliday, is playing his way into an All-Star Game invitation. Holliday has a batting average of .272, has over forty hits, and eighteen RBIs.

In addition, Ryan O'Hearn is hitting well with a

.329 batting average, and Trevor Rodgers, who pitched a gem in his first game back from injury, gave up only five hits in 6.1 innings.

Finally, the fan experience is more enjoyable than ever. A value menu, an upgraded sound system, and an expanded Splash Zone are just some of the features that make any game at Camden Yards a good time. Fans can also wait in anticipation for more perks in the future, including a new big screen in the outfield.

So while the season seems to be over, there is still hope. The record doesn't reflect the talent that the Orioles have, and it doesn't reflect the quality of the experience at Camden Yards.

Keep watching baseball, Baltimore. You never know, like the incoming summer weather, the Orioles can start to heat up too.

IHM Band Concert 2025

Dominic Waldron '27

This year's band concert was one of the best. Both the Eagles and the Eaglets were precise on every note. The Eaglet band played well, even though it was their first time performing music in front of an audience. Two singers, Ruthie Rouhana '25 and Lucy Oetting '25, left the audience amazed with their performances. Ruthie sang a solo rendition of "Once I Was Seven Years Old." She was later joined by Lucy in a beautiful rendition of "Oceans, Where Feet May Fail." The Eagle band gave a stunning performance that was enjoyed by all who attended. To cap off the evening, Mrs. B awarded the 8th graders, in their final year at IHM, with plaques and medallions in remembrance of their hard work and dedication to music throughout their years at IHM.

Eagle Eye News Bids a Fond Farewell to our 8th Grade Reporters - Oliver Addison, McKensie Conant, Anthony Cramer, Savannah Krupey, Lucy Oetting, Olivia Reyes, Ruthie Rouhana Good luck in high school!

Eagle Eye Poll

Maggie Jennings '26

What are you doing this summer? I took the the IHM cafeteria to find out what our IHM Eagles are most looking forward to for summer 2025. Here are the results!

What people want to do in the summer

The Eagle Eye News Team

Oliver Addison '25, Jasmine Cain '26, McKensie Conant '25, Anthony Cramer '25, Maggie Jennings '26, Bridget Kelly '26, Savannah Krupey '25, Lucy Oetting '25, Olivia Reyes '25, Ruthie Rouhana '25, Mackenzie Sparwasser '26, Dominic Waldron '27, Grace Kerr '27, Ben Sauer '27, Jack Janis '27
Editors: Mr. Corbett, Ms. Datz
